It is unrealistic to expect a child of any age to assume complete responsibility for an animal. Ultimately the adult(s) of the household are responsible for the complete care of the animals in the home. Are you prepared to take all responsibility for this animal should your child/ren become disinterested? Yes _____ No _____

Please give careful consideration to adopting this animal. Animals are not toys or a short term commitment, they do require daily attention. Make sure your lifestyle allows time, emotional commitment and financial responsibility this animal will need over its life span.

It is the responsibility of Kittens without Mittens Rescue to place this animal in an environment compatible with its needs and to ensure the adoption is in the best interest of both the animal and applicant. Kittens without Mittens Rescue reserves the right to deny any applicant.

I certify that I have read the above information and that all information I have given is true and accurate and is subject to verification by Kittens without Mittens Rescue. I understand that any falsification may result in the nullification of an adoption.
